Baker Announces Radio Series On Popular Books

A series of radio adaptations from the books of the world's great authors is now being presented over the radio network, Mr. Hugh C. Baker, English department chairman, announced.

The new radio program, entitled "The Playhouse of Favorites," is especially designed for high school and college listening levels. The books have been carefully selected and adapted for radio presentation.

The program may be heard on Tuesday evenings from 9:30 to 10 o'clock over station KPO.

Exec Board Elects Bedwell V.P.; Newly Reorganized C. A. C. Submits New Regulations

Bernice Bedwell was elected vice-president of the Associated Students of San Francisco State at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Directors. Miss Bedwell replaces Helena Mitchell, who resigned last week to join her mother on a broad trip through the eastern part of the United States.

Veterans Enroll In Workshop Courses

Six ex-servicemen and one ex-Wave enrolled March 11 for the special workshop courses, according to Dean John H. Butler.

Mr. Daniel F. Farmer, associate professor of physical education, who took charge of the new students, was able, however, to place them in regular classes.

Following the election of Miss Bedwell, the members of the Board of Directors discussed and approved the requisites for the formation and existence of clubs on the campus. The Club Advisory Council has been reorganized and its first step toward unification of all clubs is the submission of these provisions.

1. Each club will submit a copy of its constitution to the student body office and to the office of Dean Mary A. Ward.

2. Each club will establish as its minimum requirements:

a. Each member will be a member of the Associated Students of San Francisco State College.

b. The grade point average for each club officer will be at least 1 point; all members of service and honorary organizations must have a 1 point average.

3. Each club must meet at least once every thirty day.

4. Each club must submit a complete financial report at least three weeks before the conclusion of the semester. Changes in the original report will be added to the report of the following semester.

5. Each club must elect its new officers at least three weeks prior to the end of the term.

6. Each club must turn in to the CAC a complete business and

Music Fed's Belated St. Pat's Dance Scheduled for Tonight

Faith and begorra, tonight Irish eyes will be smiling for all the pretty colleens at the Music Fed's St. Patrick's party and dance in Annex B9 from 8 to 12.

Novel Theme

St. Patrick's Day in Union Square will be the theme of the decorations, and lamp posts, benches, and shamrocks will lend the atmosphere.

Contributions For Inklings Now Needed

Can you write a complete sentence? Do you have any opinions on anything? Do you get all A's in English? Do you want to be a famous writer? Are you a potential Steinbeck, Saroyan or Stein? If so, Inklings, State's literary magazine, is your opportunity to become known in the literary world.

Inklings, originated by a group of students interested in further literary achievement at State, is rapidly becoming a campus byword. Last semester hundreds of copies were sold in advance. In anticipation of an even greater student interest in the magazine, the editorial staff plans a larger issue of Inklings.

Although numerous contributions have been received, more copy is needed. New student writers, as well as those already known to Staters for their talent, are invited to submit short stories, plays, poems or essays before April 5. Copy should be typewritten and should not exceed 1500 words.

The editorial board includes Eugene Benefiel, Doris Thulin and Vivian Allen, co-editors; and, Tom Thorp, Harry Karpilow and Irv Thomas, editorial assistants.

In charge of publicity and art work are Pat Healy, Betty Hickman and Ann Chick.

"All the cutest pigeons will be in the Square," remarked El Larson, Fed member.

Present Skit

Don Moss will assist with the entertainment, presenting a comedy skit, and Charlie Brewer will sing a group of Irish ballads. The Irish lilt and Virginia reel will be among the featured dances of the evening to "keep the lads and colleens" in the spirit of old St. Patrick. There will be dancing to favorite recordings, as well as games and community singing.

Cokes, cakes, and other refreshments will keep the Irishman busy. Heading the committees are Joe Pucci, refreshments; Ed Doty and Joan Durand, decorations; and Rose Lewis, entertainment, and Joan Durand, decorations.

Admission is free to Fed members and 25 cents to non-members.

Five Vets Return To Practice Teach

Several veterans have returned to practice teaching in the Frederic Burk school, according to Mrs. Grace Leathurby, principal.

Among the returned vets are Jack Oakes, Edward Borup, and Thomas Farney. "After a number of years with few men in Frederic Burk, it is nice to welcome them back to the field," Mrs. Leathurby stated.

Vets Will Be Offered Variety Of Courses During Summer Session

Opportunities for veterans, both those who are preparing to teach and those who have other goals, will be available during the 1946 summer session, according to Dean P. F. Valentine, vice-president of the college.

A large variety of courses in education will be offered, including all required work for administrative credentials, and certain professional requirements for the general secondary credential. It is expected that State College will gain approval from the State Board of Education to grant the general secondary credential beginning this summer. Students may select the courses in education, and upper division courses in their special fields of training.

Veterans not planning to teach may be interested in the many courses to be offered in academic fields. In English, Dr. Frank Fenton will present a new course entitled, "The Theatre in Early San Francisco," as well as a course in contemporary verse. Two unusual courses in the same field, will be given by Dr. Elias T. Arnesen—"American Folklore" and "The Art of Words."

A special course in mathematics will be offered by Mr. Alexander Boulware entitled, "General Applied Mathematics." This course will serve both as a "refresher" and a basic course for science students. The music department will offer a wide variety of general and instrumental courses.

Dr. R. Will Burnett will present a course dealing with the great new developments in science entitled, "New Vistas in Science." Also offered by the science department will be two basic courses—"Man and His Physical World" and "Survey of Biology."

The psychology department will offer courses in "Mental Hygiene" and "Social Psychology," in addition to the basic general psychology course.

The social science department will present the "History of American Institutions and Ideals," preparatory course to the compulsory examination to be required of all graduates. Geography 20 and Government 40 will also be given.

In speech a course in radio broadcasting will be given by Mr. Oisín Dinneen.

Candidates Now Urged to File For General Secondary Credential

Students interested in working not more than one additional year for a general secondary credential should contact Miss Florence Vance in the registrar's office immediately. It is essential that those students with graduate standing plan their program for the fall semester so that proper courses will be taken.

The summer session will offer a number of courses which will serve as an appropriate part of a student's training.

Although the length of time required for a major or minor will vary in a particular field, it will usually be possible to complete work for the general secondary in after graduation plus one or two summer sessions.

"Since we fully expect official accreditation for San Francisco State by mid-April, we are going ahead with our plans for the future," stated Dr. R. Will Burnett.

Mimeographed sheets including information relative to the placement possibility in high school teaching, the teaching major and minors to be given at State, the requirements for the general secondary credential and the procedure to be followed by students in applying for and working for the credential, may be obtained at the registrar's office.

Two-Fold Problem Confronts AWS

A two-fold problem confronts the Associated Women Students this term. The first question involves the fairly general feeling that a dichotomous system of student body organizations, such as State's AMS and AWS, is unnecessary when there is an equal balance of power between men and women. The second involves the major question as to just what are the functions of AWS and what does it plan to do this term.

The answer to the first problem must be answered by the general student body and its elected officers themselves. A majority feel that there are few enough general student body functions and activities that are being carried on these days, so any major division of the sexes is quite unnecessary and superfluous along these lines. Others feel that AMS and AWS have a definite place in State life and that they should be maintained. Being temporarily impartial, we have offered to present the why's and wherefore's of the AWS as an example, in order that women of State may gain the opportunity to know about this organization that they, as student body card holders, are entitled to join.

Purposes of AWS

One purpose of the AWS is to promote leadership among women of the college. Another is to strengthen the spirit of unity and cooperation among this group through a well-organized social program. These functions are planned and carried out by a well set up, representative Executive Council.

This group is primarily responsible for the success of the semi-annual Frosh Reception as well as the consistently popular Sup N' Chat. In other words, the AWS has a definite, well-rounded program and this year's president, Mary Jane Parker, deserves a world of credit.

Unification Urged

Because of the war, AMS has been unable to function in a like manner. If it continues to be inoperative, it appears quite practical and very likely feasible that all such activities as are now carried on by the AWS and should be carried on by AMS can and should be unified into one general function by one specific group, the San Francisco State Student Body. —A. Did you know that under the double jeopardy law a person can't be brought to court in danger of life and limb twice for the same offense if a verdict had already rendered him not guilty? Well, it's true.

A thought has occurred to me! Let's suppose that a man kills his wife (it's been done you know.)

The body is found. Some stinker remembers that the husband and wife never got along very well and had threatened to kill each other often. The wife is dead and the suspected husband is arrested. He denies it. Nevertheless, there is enough proof that he killed her to bring him to court. He's brought. The trial is on. Blah, blah, blah, blah, blah, blah... the attorneys are long-winded. The trial is over and the verdict is "not guilty"... the jurors were short-sleept. Now that that's over the man begins to return to his old way of doing things... but his wife is already dead.

Conscience Bothers

His conscience bothers him—he's really a soft-hearted guy. So, he confesses that he really did kill her... he likes his sleep, too. Well, what's the poor man to do? He can't be tried for murder again. He's not eating, not sleeping, not drinking... all he can think about is killing his wife. He's already confessed but nothing can be done about it. Still he can't sleep... suffer, suffer, suffer, (Stanislovsky, merci). So he gets himself another wife. (Is the ending obvious?... don't peek!)

Gal Can Cook

The gal can cook... so he eats. She used to be a bartender (for the benefit of the unionites, the bar was in the family)... so he drinks. He sleeps, too. Now he realizes that all he wanted was a wife with whom he could get along... he's got her, so... exit conscience. This wife loves him and takes care of him, so he lives happily ever after. Wife No. 1 turns over in her grave... justice is shot to hell... but the hero of our tale is safe and, anyway, we all like a happy ending.

BLUM'S Bullsession

Last week-end certainly wasn't "Lost" for Gater Gayblades if the three or more big parties held are any criterion. Number one was the get-together at Pat Kilkenny's home, 'nother was staged at Gene Phillips' abode, and Sunday the Newman Club Picni at Muir Woods. Highlights of this Poison Oak Fiesta was the mixed football game which saw Pagani's Pigs edge out Benson's Kosher Bums, 30 to 24. The "Pigs" lineup included Don Pagani, Meta Johnson, Cathleen Schreiber, Mal Weinstein, and Sima Stephanian. The "Bums" lined up with Al Benson, Claire Peck, Doris Mercurio, and Margie Schreiber. Action photos are now being printed of the event... probably for extortion purposes!

Buchanan Banter

Choice remark by Republican John Rocky: "To Err is Truman!"... In addition to Vin O'Leary, we see that Bob Harder and Dick Wind are among the Staters who are part-time directors at the Columbia Park Boy's Club. And Frenchy Viand, ex-Marine Captain is also directing—at the San Francisco Boys' Club... Betty Rowden appears to be a good bet for one of Scott Hope's rallies this term. She soloed vocally at St. Mathew's church Sunday... news item: The Four Horsemen of Annex C, Paul Hungerford, Walt Suggs, Jim Barnes, and Russ Armstrong are all right this very moment enlisting in Uncle Sugar's Army! In Suggs' case it's a repeat performance... "The Original Thirteen" have just changed the group's name to Kappa Theta—which means... well, it's all Greek to me!

The pen hopped along the page, it stopped only to gather new fuel that was streaming from the rigid hand that held it.

A pen has no independent thought—

The woman had.

She had so much independent thought that it was more than she could handle. Perhaps she was too young to know how to apply it wisely, perhaps she didn't want to know. This explosion inside of her that made hot, running, lava-like impulse run through her was maddening, but it was like wild, free, laughter. She wrote to no one in particular, just to clutch a pen—to watch it race madly across the page—to laugh—to cry—to scream!!! If the words don't follow each other in a logical, conventional manner, if they don't make sense, don't worry!

Tennis, Ping Pong Tournaments Begin

First round play started this week in the men's singles division of the intramural tennis tournament while the women's singles and the mixed doubles were cancelled because of lack of entrants.

First round matches are being played off on the lower courts during the noon hour. Winners of this round will be decided on a basis of two out of three sets, with the sets consisting of the best two out of three games. Although there has been some grumbling about an abbreviated style of tournament play such as this, it is necessary in order to finish the first two rounds in a reasonable length of time.

Sign-up sheet for a men's doubles tournament to replace the two cancelled events has been placed on the bulletin board near the Cop door.

Ping Pong Tournament

First round of the men's singles division of the ping pong tournament has been completed. Winners were Joe Woolfson, J. Kalik, Bud Wendt, Ed Murray, Gene Phillips, Lou Ursditsky, Hal Schepps, Bill Dobbins, John Holden, James Culbert, Mark Gelles and Scott Hope. The quarter finals are going to be run off next week. Also slated to compete next week are the small fields of the women's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles.

The first round of play in the men's badminton singles is to be held this noon, with a field of eight entered.

Sad-Sacs Win

Three hits by Al Nossion paced the Sad-Sacs to a 5 to 2 intramural league victory over the Junior Gators Tuesday, in a game played in a constant drizzle. Besides getting three hits for himself, Nossion pitched, allowing the Gators but three blows.

State Takes on COP Tomorrow; Meets Cal, Jaycee Next Week

After a rather leisurely schedule for the first three weeks, the San Francisco State nine is embarking on an ambitious three-a-week schedule, beginning with College of Pacific tomorrow at Marchbank Bowl at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday the Gators travel to play California at Edwards Field, and on Thursday they take on their cross-town rivals from SFJC.

OCEAN VIEW PARK, March 16

—Bill Concklin's ninth inning hit drove in Jack Burtner to give San Jose a 3 to 2 victory over San Francisco State here today. After Red Dunn retired the first two batters, Burtner, Dave Rivera, and Concklin singled to break up a brilliant pitcher's duel between Dunn and Burtner. Both went the distance, allowing but seven hits and one earned run.

The locals made both their runs in the fifth when Chuck Damonte and Norb Ferreira walked, and Mel Martin got life on Burtner's error. Dunn singled to score Damonte, and Frank Pulizzi was hit by a pitched ball, forcing in Ferreira.

A great peg to the plate by Milo Badger cut down Pulizzi in the seventh inning, attempting to score State's potential winning run from second on Armand Quartini's base hit.

★ Gator coach Hal Harden has announced Norb Ferreira as his starting pitcher against the Tigers, and Mel Martin as catcher. The remainder of the Gator line-up will probably be Gene Cox, Herb Bill, Frank Pulizzi, and Chuck Damonte in the infield, and Bob Jones, Armand Quartini, and Aimee Hourcade in the outer gardens.

The majority of players on COP's roster formerly played together at Stockton High, and on the Karl Ross American Legion nine. Leading hitter on the club is Sam Stassi, who is now playing short-stop but can hold down any position capably.

McFarland Hurls

Ed McFarland, who hurled many victories for the Karl Ross nine while they were winning the Pacific Coast championship last year, is expected to throw against the Gators.

This will be the first time that the Gators and Tigers have met in baseball.

Harden will entrust mound chores against Cal to Red Dunn, his most experienced pitcher. The Bears, whom Harden is the most anxious to beat, edged out the Gators on a ninth inning error 6 to 5 in 1944 and won last year 6 to 3.

Experienced Players

The Cal team, which includes many experienced players, surprisingly lost to Pacific, 7 to 0 in its opener last Saturday, but bounced back Tuesday to beat the Kenny Park nine, which includes several Coast leaguers, 9 to 6.

Sparkling the Bear infield is Elmer Clow at short-stop, former all-city selection from Lincoln Hi in San Francisco. Ken Gustafson, ace pitcher on last year's CIBA championship outfit, or Tony Buljan, 1943 letterman, will receive the hurling assignment from Clint Evans.
